Oh my god,
they look super scary!
Is it from ox horns?

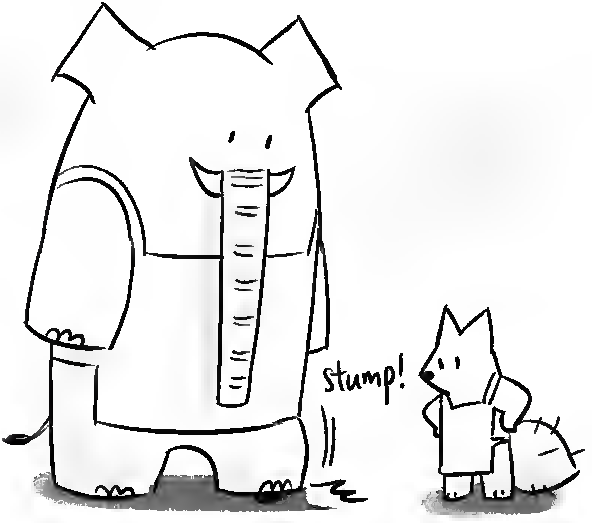
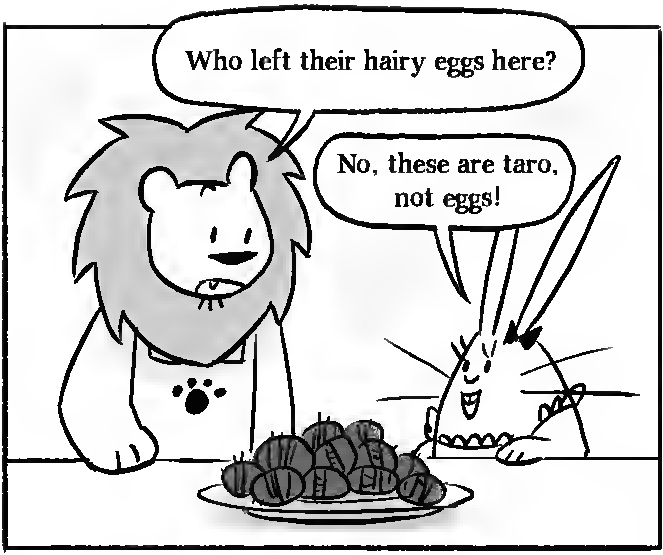
Mr. Elephunk, can you give us a hand?



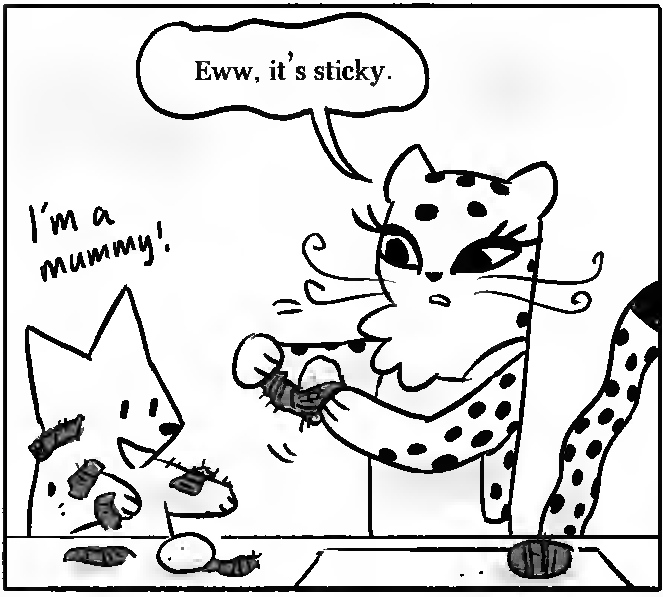
Did it crack?

I don't think so.

Guys, stop playing with food!

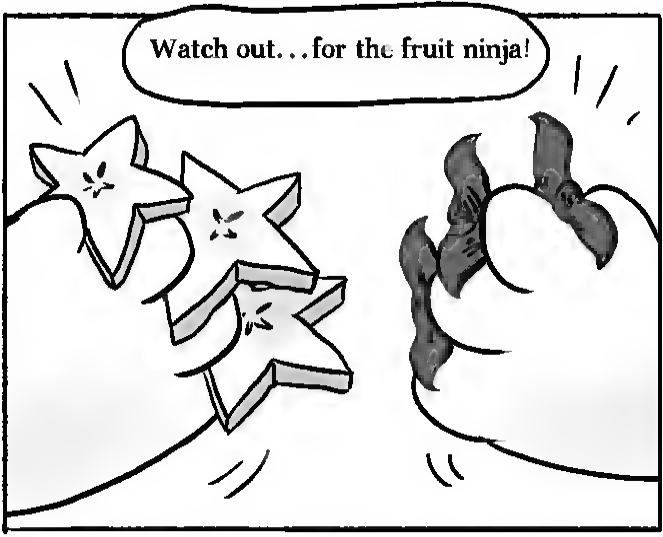


Who left their hairy eggs here?
No, these are taro, not eggs!



Eww, it's sticky.
I'm a mummy!

In some places, people also like to make mooncakes into shapes of different animals.



Watch out...for the fruit ninja!

(They finished all the mooncakes in one day.)

Happy Mid Autumn Festival!

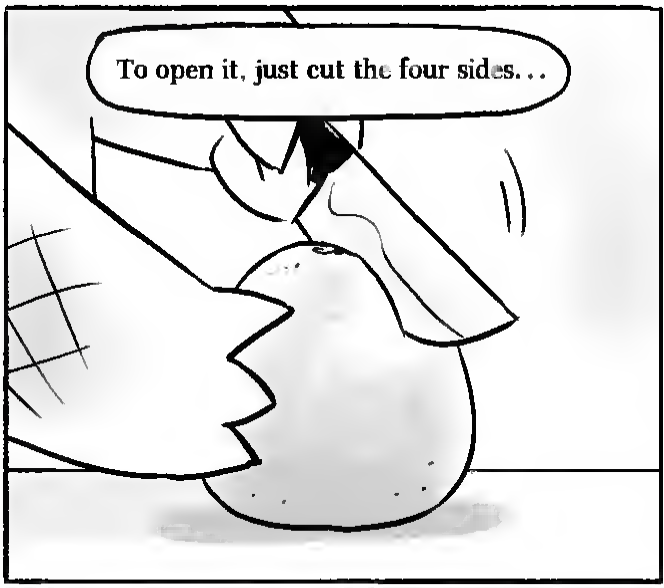
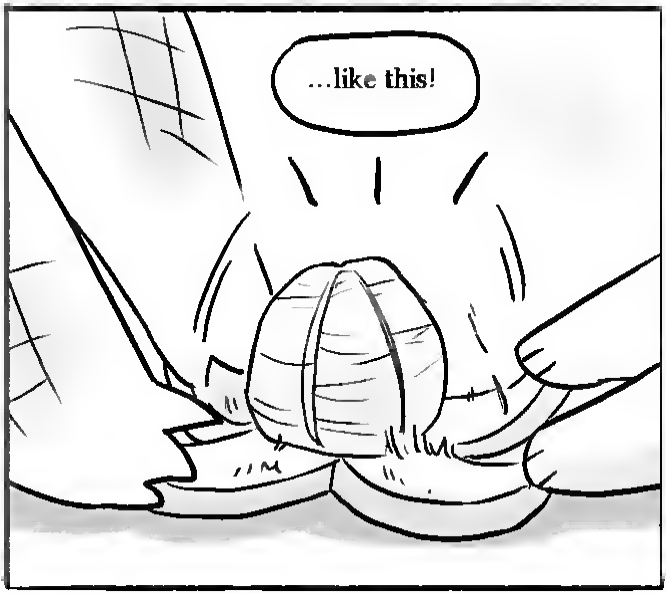
Look, I made myself a mooncake!
I don't think it's a good idea...

...since we are going to cut it up...

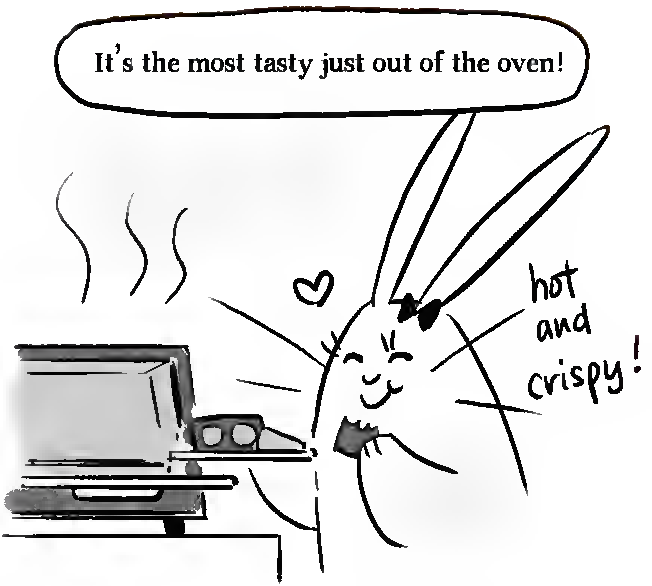


To open it, just cut the four sides...



...like this!

The traditional mooncake is rounded like a full moon, with sweet filling made from lotus seeds.



It's the most tasty just out of the oven!
hot and crispy!

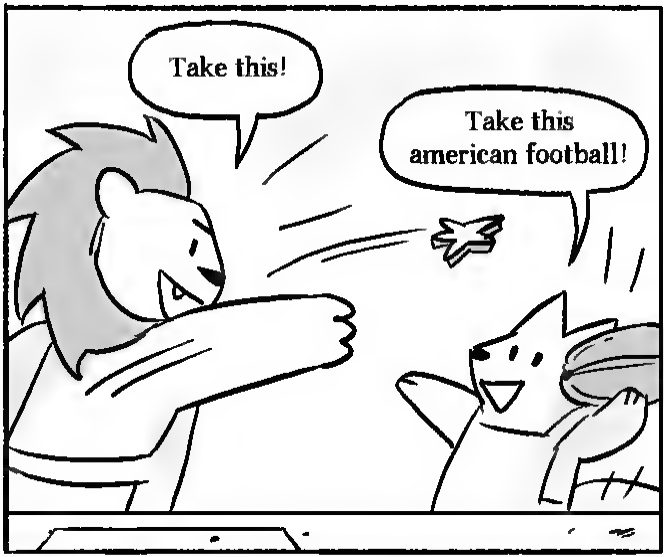
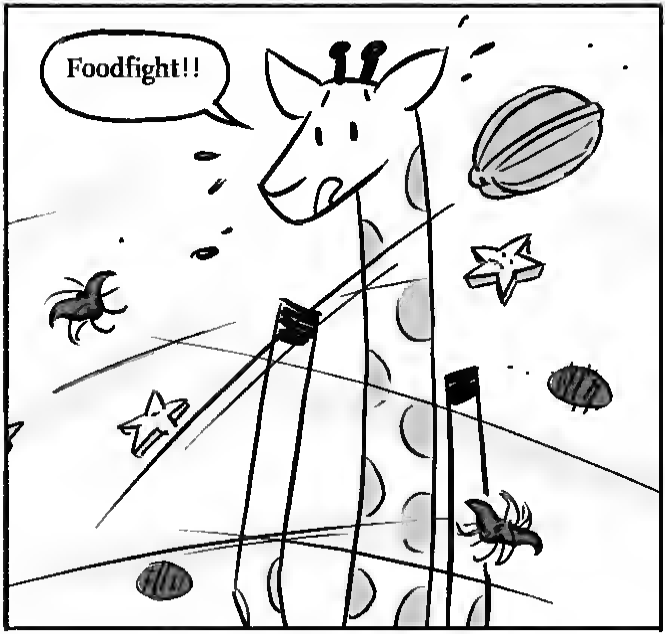
...What can we do with them?

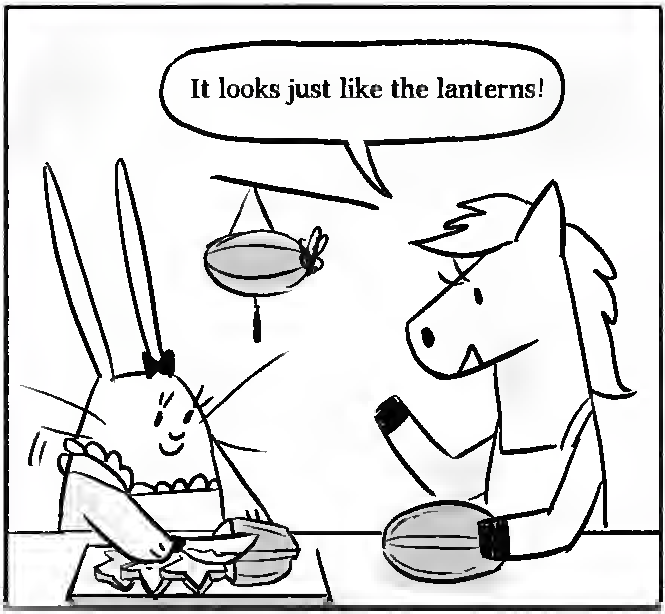
The peel can be made into a Pomelo lantern!
Looks like a halloween pumpkin!
Does this look familiar to you?
Leo...



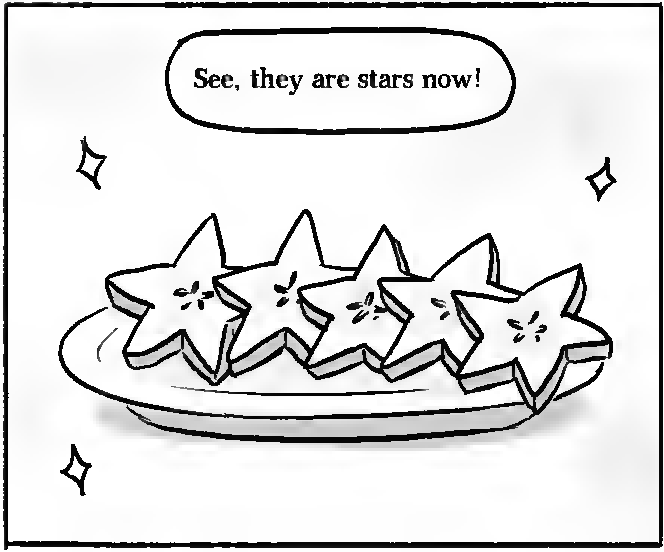
Take this!
Take this american football!



Foodfight!!



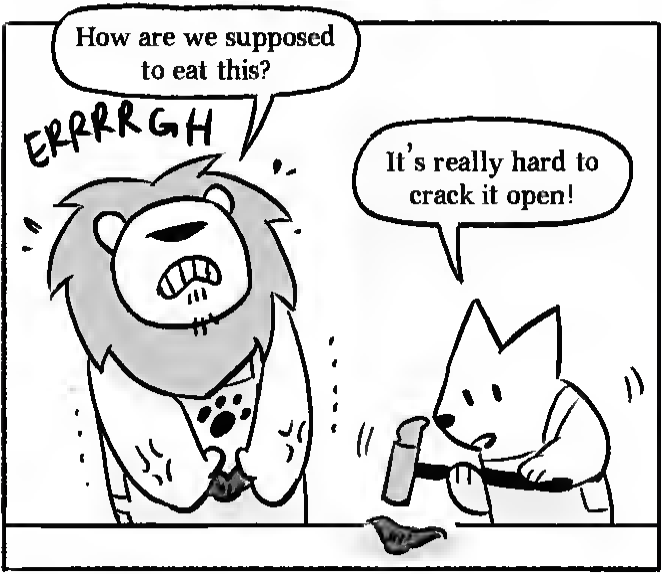
It looks just like the lanterns!



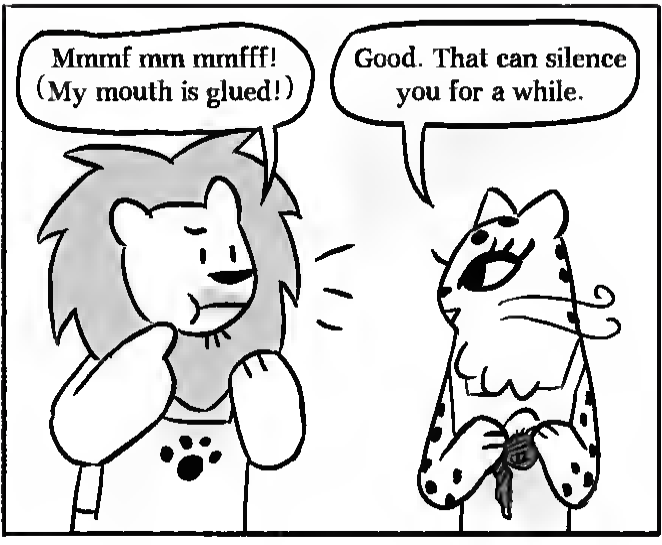
See, they are stars now!

Okay, let's see everyone's mooncakes!

It makes a nice moustache
No, I believe it's some kind of nut.



How are we supposed to eat this?
ERRRRGH
It's really hard to crack it open!



Mmmf mm mmfff!
(My mouth is glued!)
Good. That can silence you for a while.

I can't eat them.
It's too fattening.
...Too stuffy.
